Student Conduct Office

Student conduct promotes concepts of civility, fairness, respect, and conflict resolution by enforcing community standards as outlined in the Kentucky State University Student Handbook (<https://www.kysu.edu/documents/student-engagement/k-book-student-handbook-5-2020.pdf>). Students are held accountable for their behavior in a fair yet developmental manner. The judicial process protects the rights of both individual students and the University community by ensuring that claims of student misconduct are handled equitably and uniformly.
